

Character name: Emzie

About your character:

Emzie was a very young adult when she was cursed by a naive, stuck-up witch who turned her into a slimegirl. At first she resembled her old form and looked like a girl made of slime, but over the years she gradually melted and degraded into a big blob.

She still attempts to talk, but due to her slime form, her mouth has melted away and she can only mostly make "blorp" noises with the occasional cohesive word. This can make her feel quite shy and unconfident, but she is very quietly loyal.

Skills:

Emzie is technically almost completely invincible, as cutting through her slime body only causes her to become separated. This can incapacitate her for a short while, as it takes time for her slime to reform back into one complete blob.
