

Oldhar, Darklord of the Edge

Background:

They say you either die a hero, or live long enough to see yourself become the villain.

Oldhar was once a beloved hero by a different name. Together with his loyal party members, they once ventured through many lands on countless adventures. Although not always successful, the townspeople were proud to have his help when needed.

All was well until a new continent where the Empire of Emzed resides was discovered. With the empire's ever-growing technology and a new group of adventurers and heroes, Oldhar soon found himself unneeded and forgotten.

"Where did I go wrong? Is it because I'm not strong enough?" Oldhar often thought to himself. It was during these trying times when he discovered the evil blade "Dark Edge". Allured by its promise of power, Oldhar offered his soul and succumbed to the blade's corruption.

He took on his new name of "Oldhar", changed his attire to something edgier and more fitting as a darklord, and dyed his orange hair dark blue. His once friendly nature transformed into a cold, calculating personality hell-bent on destroying the new heroes of the Emzed Empire.

Will Oldhar truly become the evil he once fought against? Within his corrupted mind lies a small lingering fragment of memory; voices of his former party member friends whispering, "Don't give up! It is still not too late to turn back, Harol-".

Skills:

Oldhar excels in lightning-based and life-draining magic. While mostly relying on his superior magic ability as a darklord, Oldhar will not hesitate to swing his evil blade "Dark Edge" at his foes.
